“Open House & Fall Festival Hosted by The Well Knoxville”

Knoxville, Iowa-On Saturday, October 26th from 9:00 am-4:00 pm, The Well Knoxville will be hosting an Open House and Fall Festival available to the public. Community members can participate in pumpkin painting, crawling in the corn box, getting their face painted, jumping in a giant bounce house, riding in the barrel train, playing yard games and don't forget excellent shopping at The Well Thrift Store.

Repurpose demonstrations will take place throughout the day by local creatives. A free lunch will be served from 11-1 PM including a hot dog, chips, lemonade and a cookie. Participants can take part in a scavenger hunt throughout The Well Knoxville to win prizes and learn more about The Well.

“We have a new and improved space thanks in large part to the support of this community. We want to celebrate with a family-friendly fall festival,” said Larissa Van Donselaar, Director of Ministry Programs at The Well Knoxville. “This is also a great opportunity to share plans for upcoming programs at The Well, said Van Donselaar.

This event is free and open to the public. Through engaging activities, The Well will give insight into the positive impact that has taken place in the months since they've been open, as well as plans for future programming.

About The Well -The Well's mission is combining the love of Christ, the help of our communities and the strength in every person to find hope for life. The Well is an organization of people from area churches, non-profits, businesses and foundations interested in more effectively ministering to those in need in the Knoxville and Pella area. Through volunteers and partnerships with churches and social service agencies, we hope to be a place of encouragement and support that connects people to necessary resources.
